

“Thorn Moor/Tilery House nestled very comfortably in the moorland countryside with all its beauty in the summertime, softness in spring and raw brutal harshness of the long dark winter. However it was well blessed with farmsteads and families that were great friends, with a community spirit that collectively pulled us through the season, and the prospective tools required for survival.”

Mike Saffin